Archaeological discovery could delay Borg-Warner construction

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Discovery of archaeologically significant areas in the site of a proposed Borg-Warner plant at Port Blenville may prevent or delay construction of the facility.

A representative of an archaeological consulting firm Thursday night told members of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, administrators of the industrial park near the Pearl River here, discoveries may make the area eligible for National Register of Historic Places.

In that event, the commissioners were told, construction on the proposed $50 million plant could be blocked by the federal government.

The alternative to preventing the company from building on its site would be a process known in the archaeology field as 'mitigation.'

The historic findings could be relocated if they are found to be eligible for the National Register of Historic Places, according to the archaeologist at Thursday's meeting.

New World Research Inc., an archaeological firm from New Orleans, was hired Wednesday night by the County Port and Harbor Commission to perform a 'testing phase' to further investigate the results of a 'survey phase' completed at the industrial park several months ago.

Dale Greenwell, archaeologist and instructor at the University of Southern Mississippi's Gulf Park College campus conducted the survey phase.

"According to Greenwell's survey there is evidence of three archaeological sites all within the Borg-Warner land tract area," New World

Research President Prentiss Thomas explained to the commission.

School conduct policy delayed

By RICH ADAMS
The Hancock County School Board Saturday took under advisement a proposed policy requiring sponsors, coaches, and directors of extra-curricular activities to establish written rules of conduct and penalties for violators of those rules.

The policy was proposed by Board President Woodrow Ladner to prevent any claims of students being unfairly punished for a rule they were not aware of or a verbal rule.

Development of the policy stems from the dismissal of four band members on March 14, 1979 after the students allegedly walked away from a practice session in violation of a rule imposed by Band Director Catchie Cholina.

The band students, one of whom was Woodrow Ladner's daughter, claimed the rule was established verbally and charged many students had left the band for state competition.

The board president at that time called this practice "double standards" and asked for a solution to the problem.

The four students said they received written rules stating penalties for violators of rules only after they were removed from the band.

The band director insisted the matter required an administrative decision.

Following some 1.5 hours of discussion at the March meeting, the board agreed and left the decision to Cholina, who dismissed the children from the band.

Ladner's policy presented Saturday proposes "all coaches, sponsors, or directors having under their jurisdiction any students in the Hancock County School District will no later than the second meeting of the board after Sept. 1, or the 15th day of September (whichever comes first), file with said board a list of the rules and penalties relating to each rule if broken that the said coaches, sponsors, or directors will expect students in their charge to adhere to.

"A list of all rules in duplicate will be given each student, one copy to be retained by the parent or guardian of each student and the other copy to be retained in the student folder at school.

"No rule can be imposed on any student without first being presented to the student and board at least five days prior to becoming effective (especially if imposition of this rule would deny any student further participation in their respective organization).

"As of adoption of this policy, in order to assure its compliance (sic), the bookkeeper and office staff will be prohibited to (sic) issue a purchase order number, or issue payment for any purchases by any organization, until notified by the Hancock County School

Louisiana man killed in mishap

By RICH ADAMS

A one-vehicle accident claimed the life of a Louisiana man Friday night, according to a spokesman from the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

Officials report Maurice J. Callabet, no age given, 136 Dodge St., Jefferson, was killed after his 1979 Ford pickup left the road at an excessive rate of speed.

The mishap occurred approximately 10:20 p.m. Friday evening, the patrolman reported.

Callabet was apparently traveling east on US-90 near its intersection with Hwy. 807 when he apparently lost control of his truck in a curve, spun out and crashed in a ditch.

Patrolmen Curtis Newmann and Hershel Ladner investigated the mishap, the spokesman added.

Saturday drowning reported

By RICH ADAMS

A Donaldsonville, La. man drowned Saturday afternoon in waters off Waveland despite an almost two-hour attempt to revive him by the Diamondhead Fire Department Rescue Unit and Hancock General Hospital personnel.

Phillip B. Corso, 20, was pronounced dead at the hospital at 2:10 p.m. Saturday.

He was discovered about 12:30 p.m. by his brother-in-law floating face-down in knee-deep water near Blenville Drive in Waveland, Waveland Patrolman John Wilkerson reported.

Wilkerson said witnesses saw Corso preparing crab traps on a pier near the home of Dr. Robert Davis on Beach Boulevard where he was visiting.

Wilkerson speculated Corso may have fallen from the pier and been knocked unconscious, but said he is not sure.

During Corso's rescue, his brother-in-law attempted mouth-to-mouth and cardio-pulmonary resuscitation to revive the victim, police said.

Diamondhead Rescue Unit was nearby participating in a 'Jaws of Life' demonstration and responded to the emergency call, Wilkerson added.

Diamondhead Firemen Mike Wilkerson and Reggie Fayard also attempted to revive Corso, but their attempts were futile, police report.

Mobile Medic transported Corso to the hospital, where he died following further attempts there to revive him, Wilkerson added.

Police said Corso and his brother-in-law were vacationing at the Davis home.

PIER RESTORATION—Ken Murray, left, Kenny Gayant, center, and Anthony Pitale Thursday continue restoration of the Uman Avenue Pier in Bay St. Louis which was damaged by high winds and water from Hurricane Bob. Beat Three Supervisor Oscar Peterson and Beat Five Supervisor James Travica are jointly responsible for the pier maintenance.

Firemen master 'Jaws' in rescue course here

By EDGAR PEREZ

Fighting fires is only one phase of a fireman's duties, and Hancock County firemen Saturday spent the day training for another important aspect of their work, traffic accident rescue.

Some 21 firemen from five departments completed a day-long course in 'auto extrication' taught by instructors from the State Fire Academy in Jackson.

The session opened in the morning at Waveland's Fire Station No. 2 on Gulfside Drive with lectures and films on the tools and techniques of rescuing victims trapped in traffic accidents.

The group later convened at Supervisor Sam Pernicelli's auto repair yard on Old Spanish Trail where the students participated in practice use of the Jaws of Life power rescue tool.

Jaws tools are now located with Diamondhead, Waveland and Bay St. Louis Fire Departments, as well as the Pass Christian Fire Department.

"But once you leave the Coast, there's not another Jaws in this end of Mississippi until you get to Jackson," noted Jerry Moore of Jackson, one of the Fire Academy instructors here.

Demos resume highway post vote count today

The Mississippi State Democratic Executive Committee will meet again today in Jackson, continuing its efforts to certify a nominee in the Southern District highway commissioner's race.

Results from Tuesday's Democratic first primary election were still incomplete late Friday, and party officials said as few as six votes may separate the winner from the loser.

Democratic Party co-chairman Tom Riddle said late Friday after a meeting of the party executive committee that a margin of six votes out of more than 25,000 may be the difference between victory and defeat in the highway commissioner race.

Party officials said the unofficial results showed Joines with 13,675 votes to Riddle's 13,669. The margin is close, and the party is still counting votes.

When asked if he thought there might be some irregularities in the four-day vote-counting process, the three-term incumbent said: "Well, I'd rather not make any comment until I have something. I still have hope."

Efforts to contact Joines in Waynesboro were unsuccessful, but one of his workers said earlier in the day that the challenger is "really concerned about how the vote totals have been reported in some counties."

In its initial report Friday, The Associated Press put Joines ahead of Pyron by 2,057 votes, while United Press International had the three-term mayor leading Pyron by 1,907 votes.

Later in the day, AP had changed its report to Joines leading by 19 votes while UPI stayed with its figures. Friday night the AP updated its report to put Joiner ahead by six votes.

State and local Democrats said late Friday that Joiner appeared to be ahead of the three-term highway commissioner, but that his margin of victory may be "as little as six votes."

Ridgell said the state Democratic Party had not received votes from some counties to certify the results and that the executive committee would recess until Sunday.

Supporters of both candidates have said privately that a recount is virtually assured due to the narrow vote difference and the length of time it will have taken by the time the Democratic Party certifies a winner.

If the loser has doubt concerning the official vote tabulation, he can ask the county Democratic Party executive committee in each of the Southern District's 30 counties, including Hancock County, to recount the votes.

However, a decision on the recount is left to the local Democratic committee members.

The next step is a provision covered by state law that states a candidate has up to 12 days after certification of the results by the state Democrats to examine every voting box after giving three days notice to the party.

A candidate's final step is to petition the state Democratic Executive Committee contesting the certified results within 30 days of that certification. The chairman of the state committee issues an order to the chairman of the county Democratic executive committee where the fraud is claimed, and the county committee investigates the charge and reports back to the state committee for a final determination.

area before the invention of pottery about 1000 B.C. or earlier, and two Marksville Sites—representing a ceramic culture that built earth mounds, are the three sites Greenwell believes exist," Thomas said.

Relocation of historic findings, a procedure termed "mitigation" by Thomas, is the alternative plan of action that would allow construction at the Borg-Warner site if something historically significant would be found, Thomas states.

"Mitigation would include an archaeological excavation to recover data with scientific controls and preparing reports presenting information discovered," Thomas included. "New World does exclusively archeological work on a contract basis."

New World will perform the testing phase study for $2,002.

Greenwell offered to perform the same service for $1,200, but Commission Director Wilson Weber recommended Greenwell not be hired, saying, "his survey report was confusing."

The Mississippi Department of Archives and History recommended the Port and Harbor Commission have the archaeological testing phase performed.

If the commission's hiring of New World Research is approved by the Board of Supervisors, the results of the testing phase will also be sent to the state department of history and archives.

Weber said he will contact officials of Borg-Warner this week to determine if the company approves of the proposed testing phase on its site.

The final act of sale of the site at Port Benville optioned to Borg-Warner has not yet been formalized.

Teen faces burglary charges

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

A two-day stake-out in Pearllington resulted in an arrest and burglary charges against an area teenager Friday morning, Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner reports.

Deputies arrested Robert O'Gara, 18, of Pearllington Friday morning and charged him with four counts of breaking and entering, the sheriff said.

O'Gara was incarcerated in the county jail under $10,000 bond Friday, Ladner stated.

Ladner said information gathered during the stake-out points to O'Gara as a prime suspect in area burglaries.

"My deputies saw him returning home approximately 7 a.m. Friday, they drove up alongside him got out of the car and questioned him. O'Gara confessed to several Pearllington burglaries," the sheriff stated.

Control Fleas

On Your Pets

MISSISSIPPI STATE — If your dog or cat spends part of its time in the house, you may have a flea problem. The best way to prevent flea infestations in the house, according to Dr. James Jarratt, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service (MCES) entomologist, is to control fleas on your pet.

A dust containing four to five percent malathion or Sevin is safe and effective on dogs or cats, but use it according to label directions. Be sure the dust is rubbed into the hair or fur, all the way to the pet's skin, he adds. As an added precaution, change your pet's flea collar often in warm weather.

If fleas are already in your home, control them with good housekeeping and approved insecticides. Clean infested rooms several times with a vacuum cleaner. This includes vacuuming carpets, rugs, upholstered furniture and other places where fleas or larvae may hide.

Surface sprays containing pyrethrins are usually effective. They are often found in household aerosol sprays and other ready-mixed household chemicals. Be sure to use a non-staining product on rugs, carpets and furniture, adds Dr. Jarratt.

Insecticides like diazinon or Baygon can be used to treat baseboards and cracks in the floor. You may need to repeat the treatment after about a week, because a new batch of fleas may hatch.

In using any pesticide, follow safety precautions. Don't let pesticides come in contact with food, utensils, dishes or items children may put into their mouths. Keep all pesticides out of reach of children at all times, he adds.

What happened to the concrete buildings?

Bay St. Louis Council is now trying to find out just what happened to three concrete block buildings with steel doors which are supposed to be where now stand flimsy structures of plastic panels and interior doors at the city's three water wells. One of the amazing facts is that the State Board of Health reportedly paid half the cost of construction on the buildings which we are told were constructed more than two years ago, yet it isn't until now it is discovered the substitution of plastic for concrete and wood for steel had been made.

It is our understanding that normally, when tax dollars are spent on improvements for in cities or counties that engineers are hired to make sure proper plans and specifications are followed.

It is unbelievable that the State Board of Health would go along on a project and supply monies when an engineering firm isn't overseeing the job, much less the city fathers of Bay St. Louis.

We are told the present form of government, in fairness to them, wasn't in office when this project was completed.

The reason for the special construction on these houses which are adjacent to the pump houses is because the chlorine which is used in the water is dangerous in even a very small amount, according to Dr. Michael Smith, president of Advanced Designs Incorporated.

The Chlorine used for this purpose is kept in steel cylinders and is a liquified greenish yellow gas.

If it leaks, the immediate area should be evacuated since the gas cause respiratory problems and severe exposure could be fatal.

The big concern is the type of buildings now housing the chemicals could be very easily vandalized and someone unknowingly could kill themselves by coming in contact with the chemicals.

We wonder just who goofed on the original project or if the information we have received about the pump house isn't true. We will be searching for the answers.

Clerk urges voters seek ballots now

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
College students and others who are required to be away from Hancock County on election day—Tuesday, August 28, should apply now for absentee ballots from the Hancock County Circuit Clerk's Office.

Persons who voted absentee in the first primary will also vote absentee in the runoff election need only request the ballot from the clerk's office.

Members of that person's immediate family may request the ballot be sent to the voter, Circuit Clerk Henry Otis said. "Persons wishing to receive an absentee ballot should provide their address in writing," the clerk recommends.

Otis said the absentee ballots for the August 28 elections are not in yet, but should be in in approximately a week and a half before the election.

Voters who wish to qualify as an absentee voter must either work 50 miles away from the precinct where they vote, be physically unable to reach the polls, or be on active or reserve duty with the military service.

Election officials who want to obtain an absentee ballot, but did not vote under the absentee system in the first primary must follow a series of steps to be allowed to vote under the absentee system.

A prospective absentee voter may go to any circuit clerk's office in the state and request an application or affidavit for absent elector's ballot, Otis explains.

"This form must be completed, signed by the applicant and then notarized by a notary public," Otis continued.

The form must then be sent to the circuit clerk's office of the county in which the voter wishes to vote, he adds. A absentee ballot will be issued after the form is received at the clerk's office.

All absentee ballots cast in the second primary elections must be received in the circuit clerk's office by noon Monday, Aug. 27, to be valid, Otis emphasized.

Jury acquits Pass youth

Edward W. Tillman, 18, of Pass Christian has been acquitted of manslaughter charges by a Harrison County First Judicial District Circuit Court jury in Gulfport.

The jury of six men and six women deliberated about an hour before reaching the unanimous verdict.

The indictment grew out of a traffic accident Sept. 3 when Michael Wuesthoff, also of Pass Christian, was fatally injured. The trial began Wednesday.

Judge J. Ruble Griffin levied sentences in several cases Friday as he closed the first week criminal calendar of the August four-week term.

The judge revoked probation for James Hill, 28, Pass Christian, and ordered him to serve a previously assessed 10-year term in the state penitentiary.

Hill had been given the suspended sentence by then Judge Floyd J. Logan in March 1977 and was placed on four-year probation.

Judge Griffin found after a hearing Friday that Hill had violated terms of probation and the defendant was ordered to serve his original sentence.

OFFICIAL ELECTION RETURNS—Democratic Executive Committee members Mrs. Ileana Bruneaux and Leo Garriga Thursday compile the official results of Democratic primary elections conducted Tuesday in Hancock County. Circuit Clerk Henry Otis reports some minor differences in unofficial and official returns, but the differences do not affect the outcome of any race previously reported.

Jaws Of Life

Saturday.

Moore said state funds may become available soon to help smaller and rural fire departments obtain the power tool.

"We had hoped to help the departments here when they were attempting to raise enough money for their Jaws, but somehow the appropriations got messed up," Moore explained.

Hancock County citizens, businesses, and groups raised some $18,000 last year to purchase the three Jaws units now available here.

"In the hands of the experienced rescue worker, Jaws look like a cinch to handle, but as you can see, when a man gets a hold of them for the first time, they are no play toys," explained instructor Leroy Bledsoe, also of the Fire Academy in Jackson.

"In this auto-extraction course, we teach the use of many other tools besides Jaws," Bledsoe elaborated. "and we urge the firemen not to be totally dependent on the Jaws because, like any machinery, they might malfunction."

At that point, the small lawnmower-like engine which supplies the hydraulic power to the business end of the Jaws sputtered and died and had to be restarted.

"You see what I mean," Bledsoe said.

"I was at the scene of an accident once when we attempted to use the Jaws when the rope on the motor broke and we couldn't get it started," he continued.

But barring an unlikely malfunction, the Jaws remains a Godsend when it comes to taking a vehicle apart to free a trapped victim.

Firemen in the course Saturday were mastering the techniques necessary for successful Jaws operation after only a few tries, and cars on the Fernclaire lot were reduced to rubble.

Also working with the fire Academy team of instructors was Bruce Breeland of the State Law Enforcement Academy.

Breeland brings the firemen up to date on laws affecting their performance, such as those which dictate a fire truck does not necessarily have the right-of-way, and laws establishing a fireman's liability in the event of an accident.

Participants in Saturday's seminar include Richard Gries, Rodney T. Aguzin, Mike Willumit, all of Diamondhead; Lee Ferrell, Kenny Fayard Jr., Jimmy Varnell, Reggie Fayard Jr., Tommy Godwin Jr., David A. Garcia Jr., Gilbert Newman Jr., Rusty Price III, and Kenneth Fayard Sr., all of Waveland.

Also, Charles Jackson and Ronald J. Garcia, both of Clermont Harbor; Earl H. Walker, Larry W. Rester and Fred H. Davis, all of Leetown.

And, Guy M. Lisana, Clifton Burch, Arthur Farve and Sheldon Bermond, all of Bay St. Louis.

Washington Report

By: Rep. Trent Lott

By REP. TRENT LOTT
5th District, Mississippi

If there's any one group hit hardest by inflation and the high cost of living in this country, it's elderly or disabled Americans. Many of these people have been engaged in gainful activity and, because of retirement or disability, are forced to seek help from their government.

Judging from the correspondence I've received, elderly Americans are not interested in federal handouts. But they do want—and deserve—some return on their lifelong investment in their country.

Providing our elderly with the support necessary to maintain an independent and productive existence has been the overall goal of congressional efforts in this field. Despite the good intentions, Congress sometimes falls short of its goal, and the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program is an example.

SSI is a federally-administered program providing income assistance to needy aged, blind and disabled persons. Many states supplement the federal payment through separate laws, and in January 1978 more than 30 states had laws on the books.

Congress began to take a closer look at SSI when it was discovered that the program was being abused. The program was designed to provide a minimum level of income to the aged, blind and disabled, but it was being used by some people to supplement their income from other sources.

also a feeling that abuse and fraud in the system was working against the best interests of the recipients.

Last week, the House took up proposed corrective measures. The legislation increased the "substantial gainful activity" earnings limit to the level at which an individual's monthly countable earnings equal the basic federal SSI benefit. The bill also provided a standard work-related expense disregard of 20 percent of gross earnings in determining the monthly SSI benefit for the disabled.

Further, individuals who have lost SSI disability status over the past four years solely due to their job earnings will immediately qualify for continued SSI, if other requirements are being met.

The bill proposed to make the bureaucracy more responsive by requiring HEW to notify an SSI applicant concerning its decision, including a citation of pertinent law and regulation, as well as a summary of evidence used. Too often, HEW decisions have been forwarded down the bureaucratic chain with little or no explanation of the reasons for the decision.

The bottom line is that the federal government should be more responsive to the needs of the elderly and disabled. The SSI program is a vital part of our social security system, and it should be protected from abuse and fraud.

Port approves drilling site at industrial park

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission Thursday night authorized the drafting of a lease which will allow the Amoco Oil Co. headquartered in New Orleans to drill for oil and natural gas on 4.36 acres in the Port Blenville Industrial Park.

The commission's recommendation to lease the acreage to Amoco must be submitted to County Board of Supervisors for approval.

International Paper Co. holds mineral rights to the drilling site sought by Amoco and the county has surface rights, Commission Director Wilson Webb explained.

Amoco representatives said the paper company will receive one fourth of all gross revenues generated from the proposed well if the lease is approved.

Though terms of the lease have not been agreed upon, "an average fee paid by our oil company for use of an acre of land for drilling purposes is usually $500 per year," an Amoco representative reported.

Webb said, "If oil is struck, a site usually produces for about 40 years."

In Bayou Cadet matters, commission members learned the $200,000 Coastal Energy Impact Program grant sought by Burk and Associates Inc. to finance the purchase of land and roadways associated with the Bayou Cadet anchorage basin project was denied.

"There was about $600,000 in CEIP funds available and millions of applicants," commission member J. D. McCollough said.

Webb said he believes, "Projects dealing with outer continental shelf activity were given more consideration than other requests."

Following discussion of the loss of the CEIP funds, the director complained, "We are running a $20 million corporation with six people here—our needs are continually growing and we are constantly asked to economize."

"We need a public relations department and partime or full time engineering help," Webb insisted.

In other matters the commission: —Decided to take under advisement a request to allow a portable concession stand to be permanently located at a company site at the Port Blenville Industrial complex.

—Announced a public meeting is planned Sept. 5 at 7 p.m. at the Coast Electric Power Association Auditorium on Main Street, Bay St. Louis, to discuss navigation improvements from the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway to Port Blenville.

ETV to eye Hurricane Camille

Hurricane Camille, the angry monster that ravaged the Gulf Coast August 17, 1969, is recalled in a special Mississippi ETV program, "Camille: Ten Years Later," at 6:30 p.m., Friday, August 17, on the Mississippi ETV Network. The program will be rebroadcast later that evening at 10.

The half-hour program focuses on the

"I am confused as to why NSTL functions are not joining with the commission to insure future navigation through Little Lake Pass," Webb stated.

—Recommended the Airport Committee meet some time in the near future to discuss the financial problems fixed-base operator Bay Aviation Inc. has at Stennis Airport.

Mississippi Odd Fellows gather here

Some 50 to 75 members from throughout the state are expected this weekend at a district meeting of Grand Lodge No. 10 of Grand United Order of Odd Fellows and the Household of Ruth Lodge No. 14 which continues today through Tuesday at Gulfside Assembly Center in Waveland.

Special guests at an 8 p.m. banquet Monday include Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr., Roger James, Gilbert Whavers and Ms. Clementine Williams.

James Wheat will serve as master of ceremonies at the Monday night program, and Paul M. Lewis will preside at an 8 p.m. memorial service tonight honoring Odd Fellows who died during the past year.

Coordinators of the three-day event include Charley Smith, district deputy grand master; Alonzo Daniels, district grand secretary; and Mrs. Mary Lee Evans, district grand worthy recorder.

Assessment up

In a move to generate more revenues, the Pass Christian City Council, in a 4 to 1 vote, has approved an increase in property tax assessments.

Assessments will be raised 22 percent to a new total of 56 percent of the property's appraised value.

What this will mean in actual added tax dollars has not been determined, contingent on the new millage rate to be adopted for fiscal 79-80.

The present levy is 47 mills but council members have indicated this may be reduced.

The proposed budget and millage for the new year probably will be considered by the council at a meeting Aug. 21.

progress in rebuilding the Mississippi Coast after the mammoth destruction left by Camille, the hurricane which sets records yet to be broken.

The program includes interviews with many individuals who "rode out" the nightmare of a storm that was Camille and who began the next day to rebuild their lives.

High school band day slated at USM Oct. 6

High school band day at the University of Southern Mississippi will be staged in conjunction with an Oct. 6 game between the Golden Eagles and the Meangreen of North Texas State.

"Golden Eagle Band Day" will bring bands from all over Mississippi to USM. The visiting bands will perform a pre-game show with USM's "Pride."

The event is sponsored at USM by University Bands and USM public relations.

"This will be first band day that we have had since we moved into the new stadium and we are looking for a big group of bands representing high schools from all over the state," said Dr. Joe Barry Mullins, director of University Bands.

Bands will arrive on campus around mid-day, rehearse the game show, be guests of the University for the evening meal and attend the game, and watch the Pride perform at halftime.

"We are excited about having band day again, it will certainly add lots of color and excitement to the game as well as provide visiting bands an opportunity to visit the campus," athletic director Roland Dale said of the new activity.

According to Mullins an invitation and detailed information about the day will be mailed to each high school band in Mississippi within the next week or so.

Cold Souffle Saronno Is Ready When You Are

What could be more welcome at the end of a long hot day than a summy cold souffle for dessert? There's no fear of this showy concoction falling unlike its counterpart which sometimes provide an unwelcome touch of suspense, a cold souffle is collapse-proof.

With this luscious Cold Souffle Saronno ready to be brought forth from the refrigerator, it's easy for a hostess to keep her cool no matter how high the temperature soars. The spirited touch of Amaretto di Saronno, the delectable Italian liqueur, points up the delicate apricot flavor of the souffle.

By the way, if you haven't tried Amaretto di Saronno as yet, you're missing a delightful treat. It's especially delicious poured over ice cream or fresh fruit.

State Garden Clubs recommend plant now for Spring flowers

By MRS. C. H. WOOD
Horticultural Chairman
AUGUST GARDEN GUIDE
August is a good time to plant seeds of many perennials in order to have established plants of good size to go through the winter for flowering next spring. Plant seeds of Gerber daisies, hollyhock, pansies, forget-me-not, larkspur, nasturtiums, calendulas and Sweet Williams.

Divide daylilies to establish new plants. A piece of root with a cluster of leaves cut back to 6 or 8 inches will make a new plant. Plant divisions 12 inches apart and keep moist until re-rooted. Continue to divide bearded iris this month.

Lightly prune and fertilize roses to promote more beautiful flowers throughout the fall months. You can also root cuttings taken at this time of year. Remove old mulch around plants and replace with new material. Water during dry weather.

Make your last pinch on chrysanthemums early this month. Also at this time you should fertilize the plants to promote new branching and good bud formation. Use a low nitrogen fertilizer, such as 5-10-10, at a rate of 1/2 cup per square yard, or use about 1 teaspoon per plant.

It's time to begin disbudding common camellias to increase flower size. Remove all but one of the rounded flowerbuds at each stem tip.

Remove faded flowers from crepe myrtles to encourage a second bloom this fall.

Continue to give frequent soakings to newly transplanted trees and shrubs through August.

Cuttings of begonia, coleus, geraniums and sultana can be rooted now for use as indoor plants for this winter. Root cuttings in a rooting medium of equal parts perlite and moistened peat moss. Keep moist, not wet, until signs of growth and rooting are apparent, then pot the cuttings in 6-inch pots.

Be on the look-out for chinch bugs in your St. Augustine lawns. Control by spraying the entire area with Diazinon or Dursban applied according to label directions. Also start watching for lawn grass damage done by fall armyworms.

These worms chew grass blades and can strip plants of their foliage in a short time giving the lawn a dead appearance. The armyworm can be controlled with Sevin.

Be sure to follow label directions.

Continue collecting seed pods of native and wild plants to use in dried arrangements. Be on the lookout for dock and seed pods from red bud, locust, yellow poplar, Chinese parasol tree, water locust and cattails. Lots of the grasses have seedheads that can be used in these arrangements.

For a fall vegetable garden, plant beets, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, bush green beans, lettuce, onions, Irish Potatoes, radishes and turnips. Keep seedbeds moist until seeds germinate.

Consumer specialist suggests check of insurance coverage

"MONEY TALK"

By NORINE BARNES
Has your homeowner's insurance coverage kept up with escalating real estate prices? A home built in an average community in 1970 for $25,000 would cost $48,000 to build today, according to the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Many consumers, who have insured their homes only to tax or current market value or have failed to increase their coverage over the years, would be unable to cover replacement costs in today's market.

To guard against such a disaster, you should examine your homeowner's policies carefully and bring the coverage up to date.

Homes should be insured to 80 percent of replacement value, a figure that can be determined with the aid of a real estate broker, insurance agent, appraiser or contractor (the last two will charge for their services).

If a home is not covered to at least the 80 percent level, insurance companies will not pay the full replacement cost for even partial damage—a destroyed room, for instance—to the house.

Instead, the company will pay the higher of two amounts: replacement cost minus depreciation, or the ratio of insurance coverage to the 80 percent figure.

In either case, the payment could be several thousand dollars less than the cost of repairs.

An 80 percent policy is, of course, worth only its face value should the house be completely destroyed; consumers may want to consider coverage at 90 to 100 percent of replacement value.

Companies sometimes offer an "inflation guard endorsement," which increases coverage automatically every 3 months, usually by 1 or 2 percent.

Even such a plan may not provide for sufficient coverage; you should review your policies each year, considering current local construction costs, as well as any improvements or additions to their homes.

Home furnishings and personal property insurance should also be examined. Homeowners' policies generally cover these items by an amount equal to half the face value of the house insurance; replacements under this coverage are made on the basis of actual cash value of the lost item—that is, cost less depreciation.

Valuables such as furs, securities, and jewelry usually carry policy dollar limitations which may be lower than the market value of the items.

Coverage may be increased in particular items or insurance purchased that covers full replacement costs on personal property. You might consider the 10 to 35 percent premium increases worthwhile in view of the rising costs of clothing and home furnishings.

Seven CETA workers acclaimed

Seven Hancock County youths have been cited for their outstanding efforts as Summer CETA workers. The seven are Farren Acker, Debbie Adams, Patricia deBenedetto, Eileen Jones, Eric Labat, Eugene Wilkerson, and Monica Parker.

All receive a perfect rating from their worksite supervisors. The workers were rated on their ability to work with others, their ability to follow instructions, their attendance record and punctuality, their respect for authority, their ability to use constructive criticism, their ability to work well without constant supervision, and the pride they took in their work.

Ms. Acker, an 18-year-old Bay St. Louis resident, worked with the Senior Citizens' Division of the Community Action Agency in Bay St. Louis. Her worksite supervisor, Gloria Madere, said about Farren, "Farren is a very capable worker, above average in all areas. I am able to leave her in complete charge of the office when I'm gone, knowing she can handle anything that might arise."

Debbie Adams, a 21-year-old Pearlport resident, worked in the Hancock County Tax Assessor's office. Her supervisor, Edward D. Murtagh, Jr., said about Debbie, "I feel that Miss Adams has been a definite asset to this office. She has proven herself an individual who not only shows a great deal of interest in her work, but assumes a sense of responsibility for doing an excellent job."

Patricia deBenedetto, a 17-year-old Bay St. Louis resident, worked in the Hancock County Chancery Clerk's office. Her worksite supervisor, John D. Rutherford Jr., said about Patricia, "Patricia is a polite, neat, and an excellent worker. She cheerfully switches from one type of task to another without complaint, and makes an honest effort to learn any new duties assigned her."

Eileen Jones, an 18-year-old Bay St. Louis resident, worked with the City of Bay St. Louis on the Mayor's Special Task Force as a sanitationer. She was successful in organizing young children in the housing projects to help clean around their homes.

Fran Trombley, secretary to the mayor of Bay St. Louis, said about Eileen, "She has done a tremendous job this summer in helping to organize children to take more pride in their community. She has the ability to not only do a good job herself but to motivate others around her as well."

Eric Labat is a 17-year-old Bay St. Louis resident who also worked with the Bay St. Louis Housing Authority. His worksite supervisor, Mrs. Wumhuah, said about Eric, "Our staff is very pleased with Eric. He is responsible enough to do a good job without constant supervision, and that is an admirable trait for a 17-year-old. Eugene is a 17-year-old Bay St. Louis resident. He worked this summer at the Hancock County Vo-Tech Center under the supervision of Ailyn K. Bourgeois.

Bourgeois said about Wilkerson, "He is, without a doubt, the best summer CETA worker we have had in our six years of operation. His attitude toward his work and other employees has been excellent."

The seven were chosen from a total of 70 summer CETA workers who worked at a total of 27 worksites in Hancock County. All the worksites are non-profit organizations. The workers were between 14 and 21 years of age. The youths worked 9 weeks and were paid $2.90 per hour by CETA funds.

According to Jim True, CETA coordinator for Hancock County, the purpose of the summer CETA program is to allow the youths to gain experience in a work environment, to teach them the value of good work habits, and to help their community. In addition to their learning from their job, each worker participated in a 4-hour work orientation session where the following topics were discussed: filling out applications, compiling resumes, going for job interviews, job availability on the Gulf Coast, and maintaining proper relations with the boss.

Monica Parker, 17, was employed at the Senior Citizens Day-Care Center. "Ms. Parker was very enthusiastic about helping Senior Citizens and encouraged them to be involved in activities," stated her supervisor, Beth Farve, Day-Care Center.

"The selection of these six was a difficult one to make due to the number of youths who did such a good job this summer," said Fred Walker, Summer CETA Counselor in Hancock County. "We received many favorable comments from worksite supervisors about their Summer CETA workers."

School Policy

Board that the foregoing policy has been compiled with."

Ladner told the board the school system needs a policy such as the one he proposed.

"You might call this a student protection policy," Ladner said Saturday.

On a motion by Louie Ladner, seconded by Johnny Banks, the policy was taken under advisement until a full board is present to vote on the issue. Board member Monvel Cuevas was absent.

In other action Saturday, the board approved a lease agreement for the former Silver Creek School for the Handicapped, which is slated to be used as a handicapped school for the county system.

The school system is required to pay $400 a month to K.C. Mitchell, owner of the building, for a one-year rental period.

The board will pay six months' advance rent, and Mitchell will be required to repair the roof and pay ad valorem taxes on the property and building.

The school system will be responsible for maintenance and upkeep of the building, and also for insuring the school with a policy payable to Mitchell if damage occurs.

The insurance policy is quoted at $884.

Also Saturday, the board voted to advertise for a new pick-up truck to be used by the county school office.

The board had considered purchasing a used 1978 or 1979 pick-up truck, but School Board Attorney Walter Gex III advised against it.

Woodrow Ladner asked if the board should advertise for bids, and Gex, calling the advertisement system "a legal straightjacket," said he could only inform the board of legal procedure.

"You could advertise for a used 1979 pick-up with less than 15,000 miles on it, and there may only be one like it available in the county," Gex said.

"All I do is tell you what the legal procedure is and if you don't follow it, that is up to you. If this has been going on and you have not received any complaints, go ahead," he added.

Oris Ladner made a motion to advertise for a new truck, which was seconded by Banks and approved.

The board also approved purchase and installation of carpeting for the Hancock North Central Elementary School office, despite strong opposition from Banks.

Banks said to purchase the carpet prior to the November school bond issue referendum, which proposes a new elementary school, would be logical.

Woodrow Ladner said another motion...

the new bond issue is "two years away" and said the carpeting was needed now to reduce dust and cover rotting tile in the office.

Superintendent Terrell Randolph recommended the board go ahead with the purchase of the carpet, saying the building will "be used for something."

On a motion by Louie Ladner, seconded by Oris Ladner, the board approved the purchase by a 3-1 vote. Banks voted against the issue, while Louie, Oris, and Woodrow Ladner were in favor of the purchase.

School Transportation Supervisor Mike Necaise presented the board with a check for $188.65 from the Therapy Swimming Program (TSP) for use of a school bus during the summer.

The board authorized use of the bus for transportation of handicapped children to a swimming pool for therapeutic swimming.

Necaise explained, according to law, that the board had to charge the organization for mileage while using the vehicle.

Oris Ladner said, "I hate to take money from those people."

The superintendent also announced Saturday the school's handicapped center in Silver Creek Acres will open one week later than the other schools due to renovations being conducted at the center.

Randolph said registration will be Aug. 27 with the first day of class being Aug. 28.

All parents of children attending the center will be required to provide transportation for their children the first day of school, but a bus route will be established after that time, the superintendent added.

Registration for Hancock County School District students will be August 16 and 17 between 8 and 11 a.m., Superintendent of Schools Terrell Randolph reported.

Students attending Hancock North Central will register as follows, Grades 2-4-6-8-10-12, August 16th; Grades 1-3-5-7-9-11, August 17th.

Students registering on the 16th do not attend on the 17th, and vice versa.

Students registering on the 17th do not attend on the 16th.

Lunch will not be served on the 16th and 17th. The first full day of school will be Monday, August 20.

Giftview and Charles B. Murphy students will register August 17 between 8 and 11 a.m.

Students do not attend on the 16th, and lunch will not be served on the 17th.

School buses will run on both days of registration, and will follow the same routes as last school term.

SILVER CREEK SCHOOL

The Hancock County School District will operate the Silver Creek School on the Kiln-Delisle Road during the 1979-1980 school year.

Students who attended the school last year should report for registration at the school Monday, August 27 at 9 a.m.

Parents must provide transportation for registration day, with buses slated to run for those students thereafter.

Bus routes will be planned with parents on registration day, Randolph said.

Parents of new students at Silver Creek School should contact Harlan Hill at the school board office on Court Street, Bay St. Louis, 467-4406, about enrolling their children.

Trio named scholarship winners

A number of Coast residents have been awarded scholarships for the fall semester at the University of Southern Mississippi.

They include Ruth Ann Milazzo and Annette Elizabeth Sellier, Bay St. Louis; and Brenda Denise Gattian, Long Beach.

The scholarships, presented through the USM Foundation, are awarded to help worthy students continue their education.

Milazzo, of 1400 Dunbar, was awarded the American Legion Post 139 Scholarship. This is presented in memory of Dick Thomas, a USM alumnus.

Sellier, of 107 Barcelona Court, was awarded the First Magnolia Federal Savings and Loan Scholarship. This is awarded to economics or finance majors.

Gattian, of 205 Greenwood Avenue in Long Beach, received the First Guaranty Savings and Loan Scholarship.

JAYCEES MISS SLIDELL—Michelle Mauffray, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Mauffray of Slidell and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alden Mauffray of Bay St. Louis, was named Miss Slidell in a Jaycee-sponsored scholarship pageant recently. In addition, Miss Mauffray received an Alpha Delta Kappa Scholastic Award and placed first in the pageant swim suit competition. She is studying nursing at Southeastern Louisiana University in Hammond.

Gulf Park registration dates announced

Registration for the fall term of the University of Southern Mississippi—Gulf Coast has been set for Aug. 27 and 28.

On the 27th registration will be at Keeler from 9 a.m. - 1 p.m. and in Jackson County from 4 p.m. - 7 p.m.

Keeler registration will be on the second floor of the Sablich Center. Jackson County registration will be in the Cafeteria of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College, Gautier.

Registration on the 28th will be on the Gulf Park campus in Long Beach from 1 p.m. til 7 p.m. in the Cafeteria of Hardy Hall.

"We arrange registration as a convenience to the students," Louis Elias, director of student services for USM Gulf Coast, said. "A student can register at any of our centers for any courses. For example, if a student plans to take classes at USM Jackson County and it is more convenient, due to work or other plans, to register for those classes on the Gulf Park campus, they may do so although their classes will be in Jackson County," Elias explained.

New fees are applicable. The undergraduate fee is $31 per semester hour and graduate fee is $37.

Students planning to enter USM Gulf Coast for the first time should contact Elias at Gulf Park immediately to insure that all admission materials are processed prior to registration.

Academic advisement is available in all areas by appointment. Students or prospective students who would like to talk with a member of the faculty or staff about their programs should call 864-8533 in Hancock and Harrison County, 497-3636 in Jackson County and 377-2309 at Keeler.

AAU-sanctioned Bay-Kiln-Waveland Boxing Club prepares for season

17-year-old Nicky Slade of Bay St. Louis works out nine hours every day. He will participate in the semi-main event in Biloxi Aug. 25. Holding the punching pad is Head Coach John Whisenhunt.

8-year-old Bruce Robinson works out on the punching bag. The future hopeful has a record of 19-6-0.

By RICH ADAMS
A new gym housed at the Bay St. Louis DAV Hall on Main Street, heralded as one of the best equipped in South Mississippi, is the home of the recently established Bay-Kiln-Waveland Boxing Club.

According to Head Boxing Coach John Whisenhunt the Amateur Athletic Union-sanctioned gymnasium, when completely remodeled, will be "perhaps the best equipped in South Mississippi, along with the St. Stanislaus facility."

The boxing club already has some 20 members, ranging in age from four to 22-years-old.

The pugilists meet daily from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the room at the rear of the DAV hall and work out on punching bags, exercises, jumprope, and two-way bags.

The club is capable of a 30-man membership and is free to the public.

It is financed on donations from private individuals and commercial establishments.

"This is the second major AAU-sanctioned gym in Hancock County," Whisenhunt said.

"We are kept in operation by the love of the people in the county and donations," he added.

One boxer, light-middleweight Joe Goodman, is possible Olympic material and is training with just that goal in mind. He will head the bill in a match in Biloxi Aug. 25 as the main event.

Goodman does 18 miles of roadwork each day along with sparring and working out.

Another top biller, Nicky Slade, is a middleweight boxer who will be boxing in the semi-main event in Biloxi later this month.

The 17-year-old Bay St. Louis native works out 8-9 hours a day, and has been boxing for four years.

He has a record of 15-4-0 for his young career.

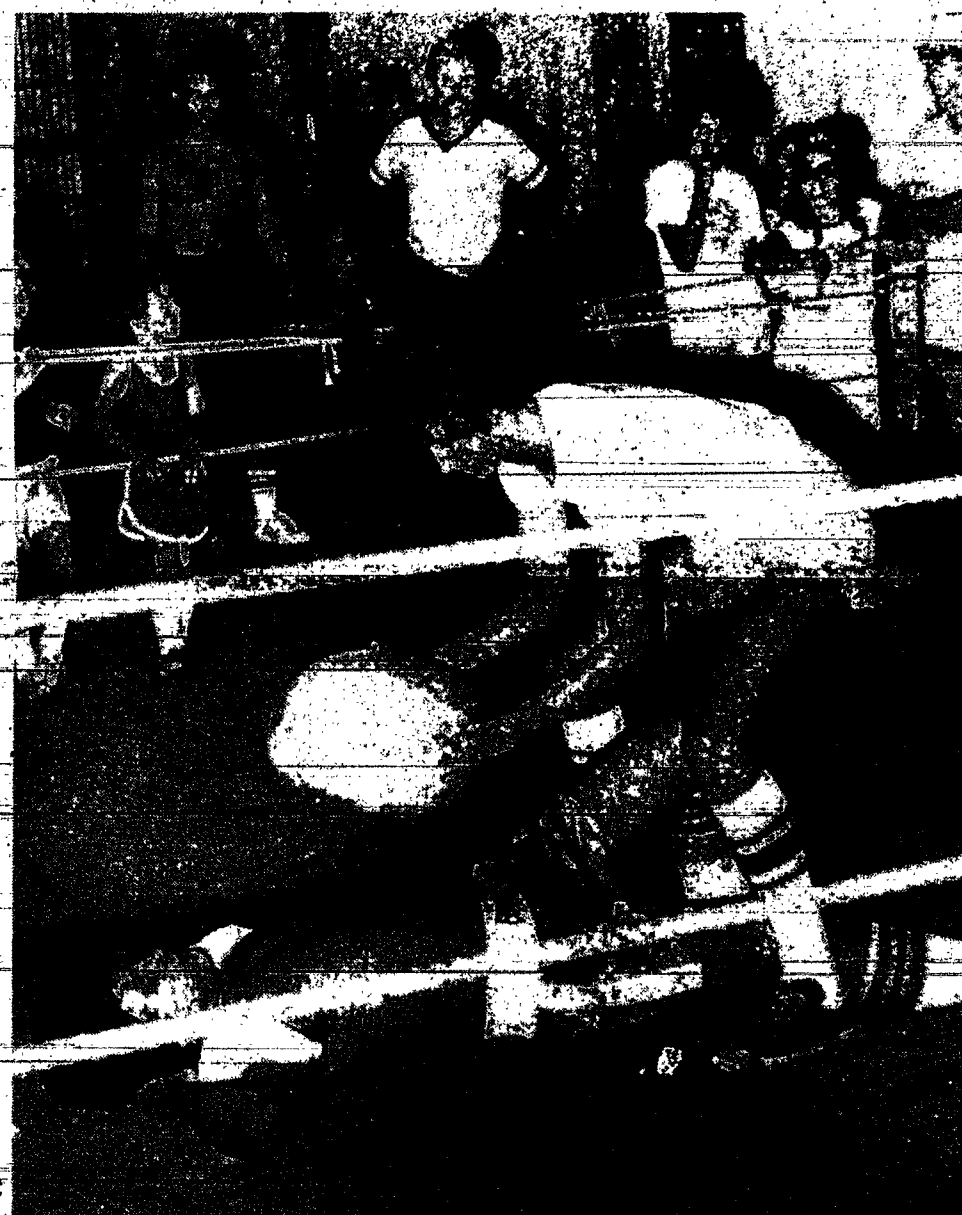

Whisenhunt is looking for a senior citizen who will assist him and his assistant coach, Earl Ainsworth, in running the boxers through roadwork.

"I would love to have a senior citizen help coach the roadwork portion of training," the boxing coach said.

For more information concerning the boxing club, contact Whisenhunt at 467-2961.

Echo Outdoorsman
The weather has improved greatly from what it has been, but thunderstorms are still a threat and high winds and rain are not the only thing you have to worry about in storms. Water spouts are also a big threat in storms. Water spouts are tornadoes over water and they are dangerous. The best thing to do when a water spout is seen in the area when you are fishing is to head for a safe place. Fishing is getting better all the time and more speckled trout, flounder and red fish are being caught. Waders along the beaches and the sea will have been making some real nice catches of specks. Wade fishing is a lot of fun, but it can be dangerous if you do not watch where you are walking. Sting rays, broken glass bottles and old pilings are some of the dangers. Yours truly caught a 151 pound tarpon Saturday while fishing alone out of La France's fishing camp. I would like to thank the guys that came along and gave me a hand boating the fish. The tarpon that I caught could possibly be a new Mississippi state record. Donald Harvill, Mark France and yours truly made a trip out of southwest pass at the mouth of the Mississippi river. Monday and caught a bunch of King mackerel, bull croakers and some large white trout.

Some big lemon fish and other large fish were hooked, but were lost. The seas were calm and the water was real clear.
FISHING CAMP
NEWS
Joe's Bayou - Fishing has been real good this past week. Specks and reds are being caught by the Bay automobile bridge, Grassy Point and the Jordan river. One man caught 12 specks by the Bay bridge Monday. Mr. Henry Neyrey of New Orleans caught 12 nice red fish and 8 specks Saturday morning. We had the privilege and pleasure of having as fishing guest for two weeks Mr. Ed Nelson and family. Mr. Nelson plays Dr. Rousseau on television's 'Peyton Place,' and also acts on various other shows. They enjoyed catching some real nice fish. Live bait, cold drinks and ice are available, according to Mrs. Allie Gaspelich. La France's - The water is getting real good since the weather has improved. Some nice red fish and specks and flounders were caught at Heron Bay. Mr. Pennan caught a real nice mess of flounders Monday. Live bait, ice, cold drinks and other items for the fishermen can be purchased. Snail can also be rented. Mrs. Roxi Hall reported.

Area soccer action begins

Soccer begins its third exciting season of fast-paced action in the Bay area Saturday, August 25. Kicking off the 1979-80 soccer season will be a soccer clinic which will acquaint boys and girls with the basic soccer skills. The clinic will be conducted next to the Bay High football stadium and will run from 9 a.m. until 12 noon.

A brief glance back at the results of last season's Bay area soccer teams shows phenomenal success when compared with the "so-so" beginning in the initial season two years ago.

Last year four teams from Bay High competed in the under-16, under 14, under 12, and under 10 age divisions of the South Mississippi Soccer Club.

Last year's under 10 boys team coached by Fred Bowles, began their season strong but slumped during the middle, only to rebound with a strong finish at the season's end to finish in a tie for third and missing by the narrowest of margins a state tournament selection in their age bracket.

The under 14 "Rocks," coached by Brother Ray of St. Stanislaus, easily captured their division title with a devastating offensive attack. However, the real success story of last season was the under-12 boys team.

The "Tigers," coached by Pastor John Helmers, combined a defense which smothered opponents' offensive efforts, produced four shutouts and allowed only five goals in eight games.

The team rolled to an undefeated season, captured the championship of their age division, and advanced to the quarter final round in the Mississippi Soccer Association's State Tournament.

Last year's coaches will conduct the soccer clinic on August 25 which will also feature instruction in the performance of basic soccer skills by Al Mayeur, past president of the South Mississippi Soccer Club, and Tom Demboski, Bay Waveland Soccer Program director.

The goal of the soccer clinic Demboski says, "is to provide instruction for every boy and girl attending in the basic soccer skills including passing, heading, trapping and dribbling."

"The clinic will offer players new to the game instruction in the game's skills, and players with experience an opportunity to sharpen

New Commission takes first action

In their first official meeting Friday, July 13, the new five-member board of the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation gave approval to upcoming migratory bird hunting dates and voiced support for restoring severely damaged oyster reefs on the Gulf Coast.

Meeting in Jackson, the new Commission approved dates for the upcoming dove and teal seasons. North zone dove hunting will extend from Sept. 1 through Sept. 23, 1979, while south zone hunting will extend from Sept. 22 through Oct. 14, 1979.

Opening concurrently in both areas, later statewide dove seasons will extend from Oct. 27 through Nov. 18, 1979, and from Dec. 22 through Jan. 14, 1979. The north zone includes all counties and parts of counties above Highway 84 from Natchez east to the Alabama line. South zone counties lie below this line.

Teal season, the special nine-day migratory duck season, will extend from Sept. 22 through Sept. 30, 1979 in open areas of the state. No other ducks may be taken during that period and the daily bag will be 4, possession 8, with shooting hours sunrise to sunset.

Members of the new Commission appointed recently by Gov. Cliff include J.E. "Rusty" Hobgood, Grenada; Allen Brutoni, Scooba; Fred K. Rogers, Clinton; Dr. John Quatz, Cleveland; and Luther C. "Billy" Goltz, Biloxi.

The Commission also approved the expenditure of some $7500 for continued membership in the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission and organization promoting joint management of marine research.

In a recent survey of fisheries department managers, 44 of them listed bluegill as holding either first or second place on the sportfishing popularity charts in their states.

Why does this small fish species rate so high? Probably because bluegill are a lot of fun and easy to catch, say the fishing experts at Mercury outboards.

But, they point out, there's a major difference between Spring and summer fishing for bluegill. In Spring, bluegill are spawning, are in shallow water and will strike at just about any lure or bait offered.

But in summer, they become finicky eaters, stay in deep water most of the day, and usually pick up a bait so lightly it's difficult to know when they're striking.

The key to summer bluegill fishing is to get your lure deep and work it slowly.

Use light line and be alert for the slightest tap on the hook. Insects, real or imitations, are excellent baits.

Catalpa worms are deadly. Use just enough weight to put the lure down in eight or 10 feet of water.

It doesn't have to touch bottom, but should be retrieved slowly to the boat.

Early morning and late evening offer a different situation. Big bluegill often come to the top at these hours and are fun to catch on light tackle.

Work the edges of shore and any brush in the water with a fly rod and small corkbodied popping bug.

Dobie Holden honored at PRJC banquet

By LARRY STANFORD
Dobie Holden is his name. And football was his game. The legendary Dobie Holden, head football coach at Pearl River Junior College from 1948-1968, was honored Saturday at the Pearl River Valley Country Club, by his former players from 1958-1968.

One-hundred fifty of them came from around the world to show their respect and give thanks to "the man that taught them how to become men."

Since Coach Holden's retirement in 1968 he has been toasted, roasted, eulogized and recognized for his many accomplishments, but the presentation—staged—here Saturday was something even more special.

The day's activities were put together with the same finesse, perfection, and impressiveness that earmarked Coach Holden and his teams.

It was quite evident that memories of those days at PRC still lingered even though nearly 20 years had lapsed.

Dr. Thomas Malone, Atlanta, Ga.; Gene Gatwood, Macon, Ga.; Seymour Hartzog, Bogalusa, La.; Bobby Weaver, Talladega, Ala.; Joel Sith, Baton Rouge, La.; and Hervet and Ann Morris of Poplarville got the reunion started with letters and cards to former players and their families.

A non-outdoor luncheon, golf, tennis, swimming and the trading of old tales were on tap for the daylight hours at the country club.

Finding out what everyone was doing and where they were living took up most of the day. A full-fledged banquet capped the activities on Saturday night.

Honored guest at the banquet were former PRC coach LEWIS Murray, his wife, Fran; PRC president, Marvin White and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Chapman, the brother of Mrs. Holden, and of course, Coach Holden and Mrs. Holden.

Holden, the recipient of the Distinguished American Award and a member of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame of the Gulf Coast Chapter; and a 1970 member of the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame, racked-up 140 wins, 43 losses and seven games tied during his stay here at PRC.

During that time his teams won the Mississippi State Championship eight times and were National Champions once. He had undefeated teams in 1953, 55, 61, and 63.

The reunion was for the team members from 1959 through 1963. During that period Coach Holden led the Wildcats to a 9-0-1 in 1963 and 9-0-1.

During the night familiar names were matched-up with not-so-familiar faces.

Bobby Weaver, the All-American quarterback from Ala., (now Alabama state senator), that went ahead to star for the University of Miami, acted as master of ceremonies along with Dr. Thomas Malone of Atlanta, a star lineman for the Wildcats.

Joel Smith, Tom Exell and Paul Alexander all All-American running backs were also on hand. Vernon Lindsey, an All-American tackle that later played for the Philadelphia Eagles, and APL-American Mack Cochran, James Boone, Gene Gatwood, and J.E. Lelama were also present.

The list of returning players resembled that of Who's Who of the nation's junior college football greats.

Several players, such as Jerrell Wilson, a premier punter in the National Football League could not make the trip back to Pearl River, but sent letters of testimony and good wishes.

"This reunion started out for just the 1959-60 and 61 teams," said Dr. Malone, "but once we got started others wanted to take part as well."

"I spent a lot of time taking with individuals all over the United States and I always asked them who meant the most during their life," Malone said.

"The answer was almost always—Coach Holden, no matter how successful these men were."

A part of the recorded letters sent to Coach Holden stated: perfection and to give whatever it took has meant a lot to me...you developed the paths for so many of us...thanks for the impact you have had on my life...you have contributed so much to so many...I've never met a former player that didn't think you were the greatest...Thanks for being a second father to me...you taught me about success and failure and demand for excellence in pushing for more than we thought we could do...you gave us confidence for life...

Gatwood wrote two songs for the occasion including "Pearl River Home" and "Dobie Is His Name" which depicted life at Pearl River Junior College and playing for Coach Holden.

The former players donated 500 copies of the songs, on 45 RPM records, to the school to be used to sell to aid the Dobie Holden Scholarship Fund.

Coach Holden was obviously touched by all the activities.

"It's something to look around here and see the amount of talent here in this room," Coach Holden said, "it's something about each of you that is special to me."

"For the time and work you have put into this I'll never forget," Coach Holden said, "I remember you all, and that is so special. YOU COULDN'T HAVE A BETTER BUNCH OF MATERIAL TO WORK WITH."

"It's been a real pleasure and I'll always hold a place in my heart for you - for what you stand for and what you have stood for. I wish the very best for all of you and your family," Coach Holden concluded.

A giant Dobie Holden portrait was also presented to Dr. Marvin White to be displayed in the PRC Library.

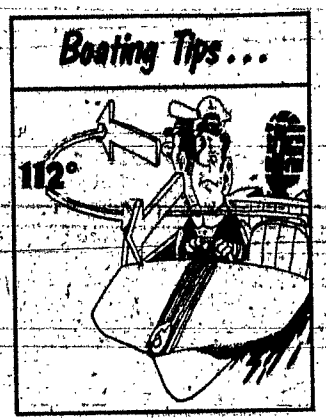

"That Man Dobie," a poem written by Dr. Malone, followed the life of Holden from the times he started at Piquette High School and LSU through his championship high school teams at Piquette and Pascagoula.

The former players also presented Coach and Mrs. Holden with an all expense week-long vacation to the Callaway Gardens in Georgia.

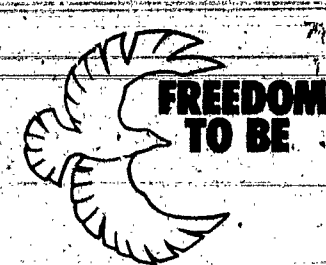

Coach Holden's life time record, including his stay in Piquette, Pascagoula and Pearl River is 240-74-15 or 76 winning percentage.

"Dobie is his name; he's in the hall of fame."

"Holden is his name; and football was his game."

In boating, the "Awareness Angle" governs the movements and responsibilities of boats underway. It encompasses the area from straight ahead through an arc of 112½ degrees on the right, or starboard, side of a boat. The Merc outboard boat crew reminds you to watch for and give the right-of-way to other boats approaching within this angle. Help do your part to promote boating safety by following this and all other "rules of the road."

14-Year-Old Catches World's Record

This world record spotted bass was caught recently by a 14-year-old Alabama boy.

An 8 pound 15 ounce spotted bass, caught by 14-year-old Phillip C. Terry, Jr. of Decatur, Ala., was recently certified as a world's record.

The bass was caught in Lewis Smith Lake near Cullman, Ala., using a Lew Childre & Sons graphite Speed Stick casting rod, Stren line and a homemade spinner bait. It was certified for the International Game Fish Association on April 11, 1979 by Curtis Lawson, Alabama State Fisheries biologist. Measuring 25 inches long, the spotted bass had an 18½-inch girth.

The previous world's record — also caught at Lewis Smith Lake — weighed 8 pounds 10½ ounces.

At the time the bass was caught, Phillip was fishing with his father, Phillip C. Terry, Sr., who hauled in an 8 pound 3 ounce largemouth bass during the same trip.

Cable TV to carry Ole Miss football

Ole Miss and Mississippi State football games will be delay-broadcast on Mississippi cable television systems this year with the establishment of the Mississippi Cablevision Sports Network.

Announcement of the new sports network was made by Ole Miss Athletic Director Warner Alford, MSU Athletic Director Carl Maddox and E.O. Roden, chairman of the network committee representing the Mississippi Cable directors Association.

All Ole Miss and Mississippi State football games will be re-broadcast on local cable systems in their entirety and in full color. The University of Southern Mississippi will be represented in the program with the airing of the Bobby Collier Show weekly.

Games will be carried on a delayed basis and cablecast on Wednesday or Thursday night in prime time.

Through a mutual agreement between the schools and cable systems, these games will be re-broadcast throughout the state. The games will be available to all cable systems which belong to the Mississippi Cable Directors Association, Alford said.

"Alumni who are interested in seeing these games in their hometowns should contact their local cable office. Cable systems will work directly with the public relations and sports information departments of the schools to arrange for the games," Alford said.

He said the program is a direct result of the growing interest in sports and the desire to provide a better service to the fans.

Former Gulfport gridiron great eyes Biloxi Bucs

Former Gulfport High School starter Alcin Brook has set his sights on the quarterback position for the semi-professional Biloxi Buccaneers, practicing in Pass Christian.

Brooks played at Gulfport High from 1969 to 1972 and was given a full scholarship to Parkinston Junior College upon completion of high school.

Playing as a wide receiver and corner back, Brooks was an honorable mention All American and won all state honors as well as playing in the All-Star game.

These credentials won him a scholarship to Witchata State in Kansas, where he made the Missouri Valley All-Conference team.

As a free agent, Brooks tried out for the New Orleans Saints and made it to Vero Beach in 1977, but was released one week before the first pre-season game.

Not discouraged, Brooks travelled to Canada, but had his hopes wiped out with a thumb injury at teh Sasquatua Rough Rider Training Camp.

He converted to the quarterback slot last year and feels he can win the position with lots of hard work.

A resident of Gulfport, he has picked up on the Buccaneers' offense quickly and has shown an edge over his competition.

Pops Billion, Buccaneer head coach, said, "Brooks' passing looks sharp and quick, but learning our offensive sets will be his biggest job."

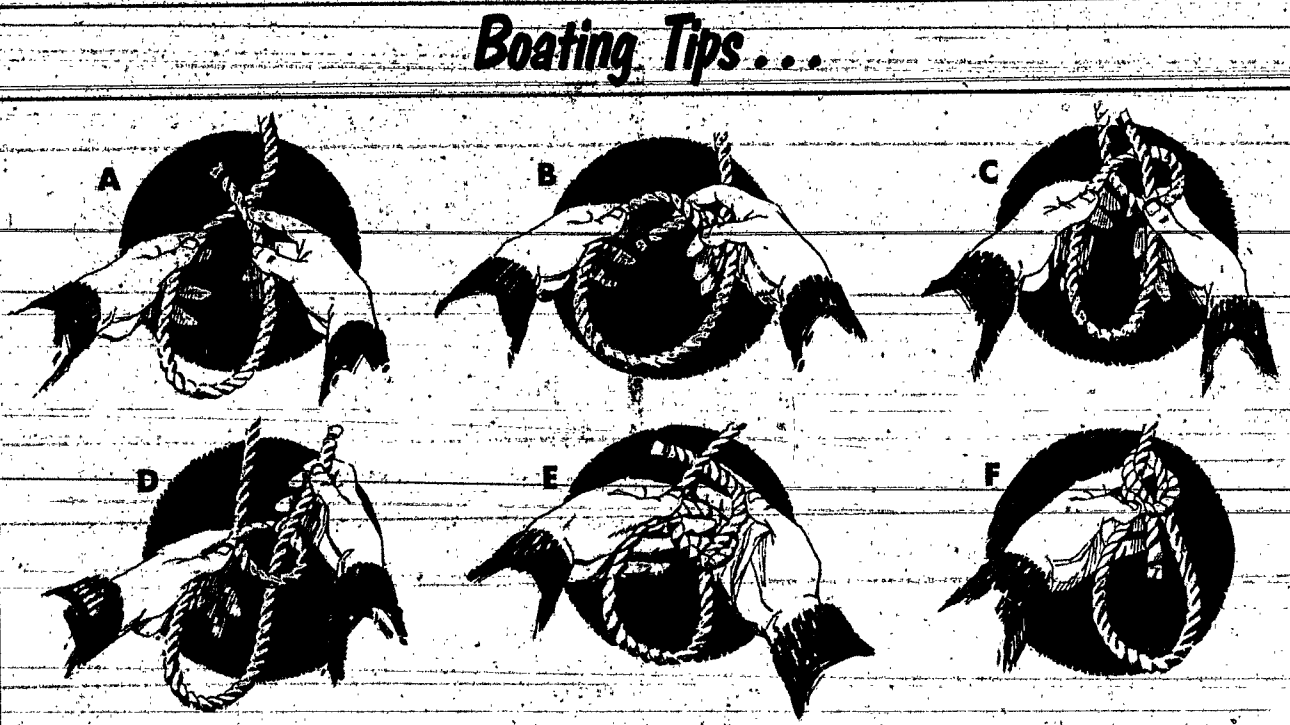

The Buccaneers have a chance to run against some opposition in a controlled scrimmage slated Aug. 25 in New Orleans against the Kenner City Chiefs.

The Bucs will meet the Chief again Oct. 6 at 8 p.m. at Milner Stadium in Gulfport.

Six players were released from Buccaneer contracts as the result of coaching dismissals.

They are Bobbie Brown, Gulfport; Sergio Cabrera, Ocean Springs; Bobby Dally, Gulfport; Oscar J. Duffel, New Orleans; Raul Fernandez, Biloxi; and Joe Fernandez, also of Biloxi.

The "bowline" has been called the "king of knots" for many years. According to the MerCruiser stern drive boatshow crew, no other single knot is so useful on any boat, regardless of size. A correctly made bowline never jams, even when wet. Also, it will not slip. Follow these instructions and then practice the bowline until you can tie it in five seconds. First (A) form a loop of the size required. (B) Then start to tie a common overhand knot, but (C) turn your hand up and to the right, carrying the overhand with it. (D) This gives you a loop in the line with the free end already passed through it. (E) Pass the free end around behind the line, and bring it back through the "hole." (F) Set it up taut, and you have a completed bowline.
